

Here, three sixth graders worked on their voice and word choice skills as they composed the following clothing advertisements, which were inspired by the J. Peterman Clothing Catalogue. Read each sample and discuss where you see each writer showing off voice and word choice skills. Click here to access the online lesson from the WritingFix website that inspired this writing.

King of the Mountains

by Ryan, sixth grade writer

Trekking up those towering, frosted-white mountains, snow blowing into your face from all sides, leaving a frosty kiss on your cheek, your body had at least four layers of jackets and sweaters covering it. So much weight, slowing you down, and you end up at the bottom of the group. You want to move up, but you also want to be warm from the freezing winds. What in the world will you do?

Satan fabric complements a 100% cotton silk layering over a thin strip of leather. The new line of Mountain FrostBite hoodies have arrived. The leather will keep out the cold and provide you heat. The cotton will make it light and comfortable. Even at negative 45 degrees, you will still only need one layer of fabric. Everyone in the group will be jealous as you are the envy leading the pack. This could be yours for only $250. It's worth every cent to be the king of the mountain.

Colors: FrostBite white. Midnight black. Sizes: S, M, L, XL, XXL. (All sizes for both men and women.)

by Corey, sixth grade writer

You find yourself getting chased by an angry line backer and corner back. What do you do? You pull out your Eddie Royal jersey, and quickly pull it over your head. Thank goodness you have this jersey because it gives you the speed Eddie Royal has, and it makes you have all the moves and jukes that Eddie has too. So now you're approaching the line backer and corner back, and here is where the jukes come in handy. You spin to the right, and then the left, and then juke back and forth, side to side. Now you're in the open field, and you being chased here is where the speed comes in handy; all of a sudden you speed up and nobody can catch you. The next thing you know you have scored a touchdown!

The hand stitched numbers on this jersey of a lifetime are made out of a material that will last forever. The netted part is made from long-lasting cotton, polyester, and a bunch of other materials. The jersey comes in all Denver Broncos team colors: striking navy blue with cloudy white numbers, racing-bright orange with cloudy white numbers, and cloudy white with the striking navy blue numbers. The jersey comes in all sizes: Kids-XS, S, M, L, and, XL. Adult-S, M, L, XL, XXL, and, XXXL. This jersey will always make it feel like Eddie Royal is right there next to you guiding you. The price ranges from kids- $60 - $80 and Adults- $80 - $110.

"Money" for Memories

Madi, sixth grade writer

The two disco dancers make a hilarious and unforgettable impression as they enter the dance room. You would think that normally people going to prom would wear dresses and tuxedos, but this couple wants to remember this night forever! That is why they chose the "Money Suit."

When the music began, these two were ready to party all night long! The first song played -- Funky Town -- perfect. The crowd starts to chant, "Claire! Josiah! Claire! Claire! Josiah!" Every person in the room is cheering and enjoying the dance. Josiah and Claire have the spotlight as they dance the thrilling night away!

Our "Money Suit" is perfect for teenage attention-grabbers. Usually it is worn to dances. It is meadow green with sparkling gold money signs scattered everywhere about. Along the trim and edging are dollar bills. The suit includes a tall hat, a jacket and some spunky pants.
