Plan your Own Adventure Story: Three Organized Paragraphs

Inspired by the Choose Your Own Adventure Books by R.A. Montgomery

Instructions: Today you will be planning a three-paragraph story about an exciting adventure you will create in your mind. Three different things will happen in your adventure. Each event will be described in its own paragraph...because that's what paragraphs do. Paragraphs separate different actions in a story.

The word game on the Choose Your Own Adventure page at WritingFix will help you come up with your character's name and your story's three events. Write your choices below, then compose an organized, three-paragraph story about your adventure. A good paragraph contains many sentences about the same idea, and it makes use of great words. Write your paragraphs in the boxes below, and use the suggestions to help keep your paragraph focused.

My adventurer's name:
First exciting moment:	Second exciting moment:	Third exciting moment:

Rough draft your first paragraph below. Use additional paper if necessary.
Hey! Use some powerful adjectives in this paragraph!	Your first paragraph will launch your reader into the action that begins your adventure. In five or six (perhaps more) sentences, you will describe what is happening as your adventure begins. Use great details.

Rough draft your second paragraph below. Use additional paper if necessary.

Hey! Use some emotion words in this paragraph!

Your second paragraph will describe your adventure's second exciting moment. In five or six (perhaps more) sentences, you will describe what is happening as your adventure continues. Use great details.

Rough draft your third paragraph below. Use additional paper if necessary.

Hey! Use some powerful verbs in this paragraph!

Your third paragraph will describe your adventure's third exciting moment. In five or six (perhaps more) sentences, you will describe what is happening as your adventure comes to an end. Use great details.

If you like your finished three-paragraph story, why not turn it into an even longer story?
