

photo taken by elementary student, Austin Miller

Flamingo

a poem by Kathya, tenth grader

It stands alone, one foot on the ground Pink silk flows
song in the wind
long neck exposes
timeless beauty
Bird of grace
freak of nature
mystery lady
intrigues one to gaze

It is the flamingo; it's here to amaze

What do you like about Kathya writing style? Which writing trait(s) does she excel with?

What story or poem might you write inspired by this photograph?